Email from Jimmy Addison and Tom Farrell to SCANA Employees, June 13, 2018

Dear SCANA Employees,

In the 5 1/2 months since we announced the proposed combination of SCANA and Dominion Energy there has been much progress in completing the merger. And, there is still a long way to go. That is the nature of bringing together two large, publicly held companies – especially regulated utilities. It is a complex process that can seem to move in fits and starts. Despite the challenges, we remain fully committed to the merger. We believe it is by far the best outcome for SCANA's customers, employees, communities and shareholders as well as for the states SCANA serves.

The purpose of our writing today is twofold. First, to say thank you for your continued hard work and dedication. And, second, to update you on the progress we have made and outline what we see ahead.

You have performed your jobs admirably in difficult times. Along with the merger, Mother Nature seems to have gone out of her way to add to the normal challenges. Snow and rain, wind, heat and cold. The natural elements sometimes seem to be supersized. Through it all you have remained dedicated to serving customers safely and efficiently. That is a testament to the high quality of the people who work here. While some of you may scoff and say, "I'm just doing my job," no one should ever lose appreciation for how important your work is to the wellbeing of millions of people. You do not hear it often enough, but "thank you."

The merger process is definitely moving ahead. As you know, we already have received several regulatory approvals. In South Carolina there is a tentative schedule to file, July 10, the first testimony related to our petition with the Public Service Commission. Proceedings in North Carolina and with federal agencies also are moving along. SCANA's shareholder vote is set for July 31.

It may help to keep in mind that utility mergers often take more time and draw more scrutiny than most other business combinations. It is not uncommon for large, multi-state utility mergers to take a year or more to complete. You may remember it took a year to complete the SCANA/PSNC Energy merger 18 years ago. We still are targeting to conclude our approval process for this merger by the end of the year, so that puts us on par with many others.

While you may feel impatient to get the merger approved, customers may be all the more so. They recognize this merger is unique in offering the greatest level of customer benefits ever for a utility merger. More than $12 billion in electric customer savings and payments. Nearly $19 billion in new economic activity for South Carolina. Far more than SCANA could do on its own. Public opinion polls consistently show strong support for our combination. That level of support is not lost on policy makers.

Not surprisingly, most of the communications effort thus far has been focused externally as we work to get the merger approved. Dominion Energy is continuing its robust outreach program. This includes TV, radio and digital advertising, social media, and community engagement, particularly in South Carolina. Dominion Energy representatives have done more than 300 community presentations and many more are scheduled. We are not letting up.

Look for internal communications to pick up later this year. Work is being done now by SCANA and Dominion Energy employees to help ensure a smooth transition for customers, employees and retirees when the time comes. Senior executives from our two companies will be meeting in the coming weeks to get to know each other better and discuss common issues. Also look for news later this summer about employee meetings in the third quarter. As we said earlier this year, we expect to have information at that time about retirement benefits, as well as other information. But we also want to say now that everything will not be figured out this fall or at the time of closing. This is a complicated process. We will do our best to make decisions as quickly as possible while keeping you informed along the way.

Again, we want to thank you for your hard work, dedication and focus on safety and customer service. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to submit questions via the extranet site at <https://des.dominionenergy.com/cwo18gyw64> and answers will be posted as soon as possible.

Just remember: Every day is another day closer to what we see as a brighter energy future.

Sincerely,

Jimmy Addison

Tom Farrell
